

EVIDENCE FAILS

To Tell Whether Pennell's Plunge
Was Accident or Suicide

Justice Murphy Declines To Probe the Defalcation Stories--Pennell--Burdick Affair Is Just as Much of Mystery as Ever.

Buffalo, April 11--The evidence given in the inquest into the deaths of Arthur R. Pennell and Mrs. Pennell before Justice Murphy, will not help the authorities in any way to a solution of the Burdick murder mystery. Whether the tragedy at Gehres stone quarry on March 10 in which Pennell was killed and Mrs. Pennell was fatally injured was due to accident or design, was not proven.

James Reilly, a boy, saw Pennell's automobile stop in front of Volk's saloon. Mrs. Pennell was inside the carriage. He saw Pennell come out and get into the automobile.

"Just before he got in, he said something and he and Mrs. Pennell laughed," said the witness. Pennell put the top down until he got in and then put it up again, rang the gong, and started away. George Dunbar testified to hearing the gong of the automobile on the evening of March 10. He turned and saw Pennell with his hand up to his head as if he was reaching for his hat, which seemingly had blown off. As his hand came down the automobile swayed and went over the bank.

The most significant feature of the testimony offered by Dunbar was that Pennell rang his gong to warn him before the vehicle plunged into the quarry. William Lannou, who was with Dunbar at the time of the accident told a similar story.

Wallace G. Omphelious, who was Pennell's clerk, was called to the stand. Mr. Pennell, he said, got out a statement for publication, but took the manuscript to make some corrections and witness did not see it again. He said J. Frederick Pennell found the revised copy of the statement. He himself has a copy of the original statement as transcribed from his stenographic notes. Mr. Coatsworth read it. It was prepared on the Saturday following the murder and was addressed to the public. In the statement Pennell said that he had satisfied the district attorney and the police that he had nothing to do with the Burdick murder.

He declared that there was not truth in the charges brought against Mrs. Burdick or himself in the complaint. He declared that there was no reason why she should have been driven from home by Burdick; that Burdick had been intimate with a woman whom he intended to marry. Pennell declared that Burdick was killed by an unknown woman who was invited to his house at midnight.

Judge Murphy then delivered his verdict as follows:

"I find and certify:

"That Arthur R. Pennell came to his death on the 10th day of March, 1903, as a result of injuries received while riding in an automobile, the said automobile plunging from an embankment into the Gehres stone quarry.

"That I cannot determine from the evidence submitted whether such plunge was accidental or designed.

"That Carrie Lamb Pennell came to her death as the result of said plunge of the automobile into the quarry."

Surgeons say that the wound will be fatal. Joseph Gesang, aged 12, was arrested by the police as the shooter. The boys had been friends for years. They taunted each other as to the value of their weapons and a duel was the result.

FIGHT

In a Saloon Near Athens
in Which Five Men Were Shot.

Athens, Ohio, April 11--Four people were fatally shot and one seriously wounded last night in a fight in Jackson's a mining town 10 miles north of Athens. The fatally wounded are: Mrs. Hugh Skrotsky, Chas. Riley, Charles Cochran and Seth Tinkham. The seriously wounded is Henry Hoblett.

The fight occurred in the saloon owned by Mrs. Skrotsky, located in the outskirts of the town. A large crowd had congregated in the saloon, and the usual drinking and card playing was indulged in. The four men were playing for the drinks for the house, and a dozen people were in the room watching the progress of the game. Several rounds of drinks had been won and lost by the contestants, when a dispute arose as to whose turn it was to pay for the liquor.

Both sides declared the other had lost and the lie was passed. Pistols were drawn and the shooting began. The woman bartender was fatally shot.

ALL TRACE

Of Judge Rutter, who Figured in the Sterile Trial, Has Been Lost by His Friends

Columbus, Ohio, April 11--The friends of Judge E. C. Rutter, of Lancaster, whose name was mentioned in the Tom Steele blackmail case in Columbus, are fearful that he will not return.

Up until the time of his departure, March 17, he has been in the best of health, apparently, but it is given out that his physician advised immediate change of climate. This became known immediately after the Judge received a letter on March 15, when he told a close friend that urgent business called him away, thereby contradicting the sick story. His original destination was Jamaica, but he changed his course to Old Mexico and other points and his friends have lost all trace of him.

GOVERNOR

REFUSES TO DISCUSS REPORT OF STANBERRY

Some Companies of the Fourth Regt.
ment May be Disbanded--Officers are Much Interested

Columbus, Ohio, April 11--Colonel A. B. Colt, Lieut. Col. Barger and other officers of the Fourth Infantry, Ohio National Guards, of which the Newark company forms a part, with Brig. Gen. Speaks, conferred with Governor Nash yesterday regarding the report Colonel Stanberry of Toledo, inspecting officer of the regiment, had made of the condition of the organization.

The report is unfavorable and the inspecting officer recommends that drastic measures be taken by the governor with reference to the organization of the command. Colonel Colt and Lieut. Col. Barger requested permission to take the reports with them for examination. The governor permitted them to do this and they will return to the executive office today for further consultation.

Friends of the Fourth do not believe that the governor will order the disbandment of the regiment, but that it will be thoroughly reorganized, not disbanded. As an example of the reports on its condition, the attendance of Company A of Columbus is given men for an average for the year at each drill. It is rumored that this company will be disbanded and that some of its members desire to remain in the service, will go to another Columbus company.

The governor could not discuss the reports saying that he did not intend to make them public until he is prepared to take some action.

Coup Made Today
By Armour

Created Semi-Panic on Board of Trade.

BUT REALIZED HANDSOMELY ON
THE DEAL

HE DOUBLED ON HIS TRACKS

After Bidding Up May and July Wheat
Then He Unloaded, Shaking off the Trailers.

Chicago, April 11--Armour accomplished a great coup in May and July wheat and started a semi-panic on the board of trade this morning when he bid May up to 77 3/8 from 76 1/8, and July to 72 3/8 from 71 7/8. Intense excitement followed the rise and scenes that marked the great Leiter deal were re-enacted. Shorts, large and small made a frantic rush to get into the band wagon and follow the big trader, but before they had recovered from the shock of the first excitement, Armour had doubled on his tracks and unloaded a tremendous line of long May and July, sheathing prices down to 74 3/8 and 69 7/8 respectively. The movement was merely for the purpose of getting profits and to shake off the small trailers. Armour realized handsomely, disposing of between seven and eight million bushels. He made a big stake.

THREE BURNED

Chicago, April 11 Three persons were burned in a fire at 556 West Harrison street this morning, two of whom may die. They are Jane Syse, 25 years old seriously burned, head and body burned, and Mrs. Thomas McCormick, head, face and body burned. McCormick's 18 months' old baby was also burned. The fire started by a gas-burner explosion.

EAST END SEWER

Caved In Burying Two Men This Afternoon.

Both Quickly Dug Out of the Ditch, Neither, it is Thought Being Seriously Hurt--Walls of Sewer Were Not Protected.

While James Buchanan and Louis Diehl were at work putting in a sewer connection at the new Second Methodist church on Cedar street this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the earth caved in covering both men. The trench was about 8 feet deep.

A call for help was given and in a short time Mr. Buchanan, who lives at 236 North Tenth street was removed from the ditch. He was able to stand and is probably not badly hurt.

It was 3 p. m. before Louis Diehl was removed from the ditch and a hasty examination convinced the doctors present that he is not seriously hurt. Mr. Diehl, who lives in Texas, was formerly a brakeman on the B. & O. road. Mr. Diehl has been particularly unfortunate and met with several accidents on the road.

It is said that the sides of the ditch were not properly protected.

Jas. Buchanan is a brother of George who is employed by the Newark Water company.

NEW CAR BARN

And Repair Shops, a Costly Structure Going Up In West Newark--Trainmen on Interurban
Lines to Live Here.

The plans of General Manager J. R. Harrigan relative to changes that will be inaugurated in the running of city and interurban electric cars, were outlined by the Advocate this week, and were read with great interest by the patrons of the road. Mr. Harrigan's idea is to give the best service possible and to this end no detail is overlooked by him to furnish adequate equipment and operating necessities.

One of the necessities of the system under Mr. Harrigan's control which embraces the Columbus, Buckeye Lake & Newark, the Newark & Granville, and the Newark city lines, and will include the new road from Newark to Zanesville was adequate car barns and repair shops. It was decided that Newark was the proper place to locate this important adjunct to the successful and convenient operation of the system.

Water closets, toilet rooms and other necessary plumbing will make it a model of comfort and convenience.

The sub-station will be a feature of the new building and here will be located thousands of dollars worth of the latest and most costly electrical machinery. There will be three controllers, to reduce the 13000 volt current to be brought from the Hebron power house on a special high tension wire, and from here this reduced current will be distributed and applied where needed on the various lines mentioned before.

It can be seen that there will be no lack of power when it is stated that the average current in use on the street cars, is 500 volts. Here there will be 13,000 volts. The Buckeye Lake and Newark cars now often run short of power, and this annoying feature will be entirely remedied when the new substation is put in operation.

The site was chosen some weeks ago, on the north side of Church street above Eleventh, just at the approach to the Buckeye Lake trestle over Racoon creek.

Bids were requested for the construction of the plant in accordance with plans and specifications drawn by Kitchfield, the Boston architect.

Contractors from Canton, Columbus and other cities bid on the work, which was finally let to the well known contractor, P. S. Phillips, who is now busily engaged in excavating for the foundation and expects to have the building completed by next August.

The repair shops will be equipped to do machine work, wood work and painting, ample facilities being provided.

L. A. Weston, of Boston, representing the architect, Mr. Kitchfield, is now in Newark, superintending the construction, and may remain until it is completed.

The building alone when completed, will cost over $50,000, and when in operation it is estimated that it will mean the location in Newark of 100 heads of families, who will make this city their home.

The new building will be 142 feet in width by 212 feet in length, to be built one story high of concrete, brick and steel, no wood entering into its construction, rendering almost absolute protection against fire.

It will consist of car barns, sub-station and repair shops. The car barns are in two sections separated by a fire wall and fire doors, so that a conflagration in one section cannot be communicated to the other.

The fact that a Newark man secured the contract to erect this expensive new work speaks well for Mr. P. S. Phillips, who was chosen above men from several other cities much larger than Newark. His work in the past is an earnest that the present contract on his part will be faithfully performed.

WIRELESS DISPATCHES

The capacity will be about 60 cars, and here will be housed all cars in use on the Buckeye Lake, Newark & Granville, Newark & Zanesville, and the Newark city lines.

Next to the barns and divide from them by a fire wall and doors will be located the substation, stock rooms, office and waiting room for conductors, motormen and other employees, the superintendents' office and a locker room equipped with 100 lockers, where men can keep their uniforms, clothing and other private belongings.

Mr. A. H. Pierson, who is in California sends home several copies of "The Wireless", a paper published daily by the Los Angeles Times at Santa Calabina, the "enchanted isle in a summer sea." The paper is the only one in the world publishing sure wireless dispatches sent by wireless telegraph. One feature of the little paper is the publication of the number of fish caught by the visitors to the island. Mr. Pierson is an expert with the hook and line, but the copies received failed to give the size of the catch. Mr. and Mrs. Pierson are expected home in a few days.

If the trusts are able to make such perfect combinations that they can control prices and thus extort unreasonable profits out of the American people the main question concerns the protection of the people from these extortionate monopolies, not the protection of the smaller corporations which are incidentally enabled to share in the spoils of monopoly.

It is hardly creditable to the intelligence of divers labor leaders that they have just discovered the "bug" in the report of the coal strike commission—the same being the provision which gives a federal judge the power to appoint the referee in future failures of arbitrators to agree. Considering the experience which the miners have had with the United States judges, this "little joker" might have been expected to attract their attention at once.

PUBLISHING NAVAL PLANS

There is something truly benevolent and disinterested and altruistic in the way we prepare a navy at great expense for the supposed purpose of defense or offense against the navies of other countries.

Whenever a battleship, a cruiser, a torpedo boat, a submarine vessel or any other war craft is projected the plans are promptly laid before an appreciative public in outline if not in detail, and the whole world is cordially invited to look it over and pass judgment on its merits.

The immediate occasion for this remark is a dispatch from Washington stating that Admiral Melville, engineer in chief of the navy, "has a surprise in store for sailors." To ease the shock of the surprise the dispatch adds that the thing the admiral has in store is turbine propulsion for warships.

His bureau has been busy with the plans for a year, and it is now thought that satisfactory results are assured. Finally we are informed that "details of the novel arrangement of this ship are withheld for the present, but it is expected that they soon will be made public." Then there will be nothing to hinder any other country from getting the benefit of what has been laboriously thought out and making any improvement that may occur to its marine engineers.

If it is so vastly important to get ready to smash some other navy would it not be well to exercise a little reticence about any improvements we may make in the machinery for doing the smashing.

Are we under any obligations to publish all our plans and not only give the benefit of them but an opportunity to checkmate them to others who feel a like impulse to get ready to smash things.

STATE POLITICS

Effect of the Late City Elections On Both Parties

Johnson's Victory in Cleveland Is Spoiling Col. Herrick's Chances for the Republican Nomination for Governor--Democratic State Committee Meeting.

Columbus, April 11.—Colonel Myron T. Herrick, in the words of the poet, will have to "get a move on" if he proposes to land that Republican nomination for governor, which Boss Hanna kindly handed him on a silver platter at the celebrated Cleveland conference some months ago. The second victory of Mayor Tom L. Johnson in Cleveland, shows conclusively that the combined forces of Hanna, Herrick and McKisson are unable to wrest the political fortunes of the Forest City from the hands of the present mayor, and it will now be necessary for Mr. Hanna to go before the Republicans of Ohio and explain by what right, under the circumstances, he can demand the nomination of his man Herrick. It will be an exceedingly difficult explanation for the supreme boss to make. He practically staked his political reputation on the result in Cleveland and was the cause of his friends losing large sums of money thereon, not only in Cleveland, but throughout the state. In this city the Herrick hosts were led by John R. Malloy, who posted liberal bets that Herrick would be elected. Mr. Malloy will now have to get down to more practical business in behalf of his candidate, and it is understood that he is fully prepared to do so. The Hanna people will force the fighting for Herrick from this time on. Their program is to thrust him on the Republican state convention with characteristic brutality no matter how much that body may protest against the proceeding. Herrick organizations will now be built up in every county, while Mr. Hanna gives out the word that all Republicans who oppose his dictation will be ranked as "traitors," if not as anarchists. The preliminary campaign will involve an exhibition of bossism seldom equalled even under the leadership of Hanna. All Republicans who are not for Herrick will be told to get off the earth. The conditions that will follow his nomination, if it occurs, will be distinctly favorable to Democratic success in the same campaign.

THE RICHEST MAN In the World.

It has often been asked who was the richest man in the world, and beyond all question the answer should be the man who has health and a clear brain. Frail bodies and diseased organs irritate the mind and the problems of business and life can not be clearly grasped. In 1902, 8,756,000 people, invested a small sum in this priceless treasure—health, by purchasing Dr. Burkhart's Vegetable Compound, and 80 per cent were cured. Rheumatism, Catarrh and diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys yield quickly to this treatment. 25 cents. All druggists.

It was a Maine girl of whom the story is told that she refused to marry a most devoted lover until he had amassed a fortune of $10,000. After some expostulation he accepted the decree and went to work. About three months after this the avaricious young lady, meeting her lover, asked:
"Well, Charley, how are you getting along?"
"Oh, very well indeed," Charley returned cheerfully. "I've $18 saved."

The young lady blushed and looked down at the toes of her walking boots and stabbed the inoffensive earth with the point of her parasol. "I guess," she said faintly—"I guess, Charley, that's about near enough."—Philadelphia Ledger.

HATS FOR SPRING.

Some of the New Creations Are Poems in Lace and Flowers.
[Special Correspondence.]
New York, April 6.—Without wishing to draw comparisons, which Mrs. Partington says are odorous, I think it is safe to remark upon the real poetic appearance of the new hats. They are not altogether bits of lace, ribbon and other materials as they have been, but these materials, simple in themselves, have been trained by genius into something more than a hat usually stands for. Flowers, where they are used, are put on the hat not so much to decorate it as to express some meaning, and thus there is a new spirit in the spring millinery, that of poetry and grace.
Straw, burnt, sized and plain and also mingled with chiffon, lace, chenille, velvet and shirtings of soft silk mousselines, form the foundations, while tulle, lace, agrets, plumes and blossoms without number form the bodies of the hats. The crowns are wide and mostly rather flat, while the brims are everything that mind can conceive. One lovely and poetic hat was as flat as a pancake and made of row after row of tender green chiffon folds. The brim was laid in several folds, so that it was quite thick. Under it was a layer of handsome heavy lace through whose meshes the faint green showed delicately. On the left side under the brim there was one shirvelled white rose, with brown and wrinkled foliage. On the place where the crown would be, supposing there was a crown, was a fine white agret held by a twisted dark green velvet knot and so placed that it almost lay down. The featherly part was turned to the front. Many agrets are seen, and all are set forward in the same way and held by some kind of ornament in that position.

I noticed one queerly shaped hat. It was made turban; but with the brim made to stand out straight on the right side and front, while the rest was high brimmed. The whole hat was made of braid an inch wide in black and white woven so that the black and white formed a plaid. There was a little chiffon drawn around the crown, and almost in front was an all black agret held by a rich silver and jet arrow. One striking hat was made of plain roughish straw in a beige shade. It was slightly dipped in front, while the whole thing was covered with gossamer in scarlet and pink, their velvety petals covering the whole without any foliage.

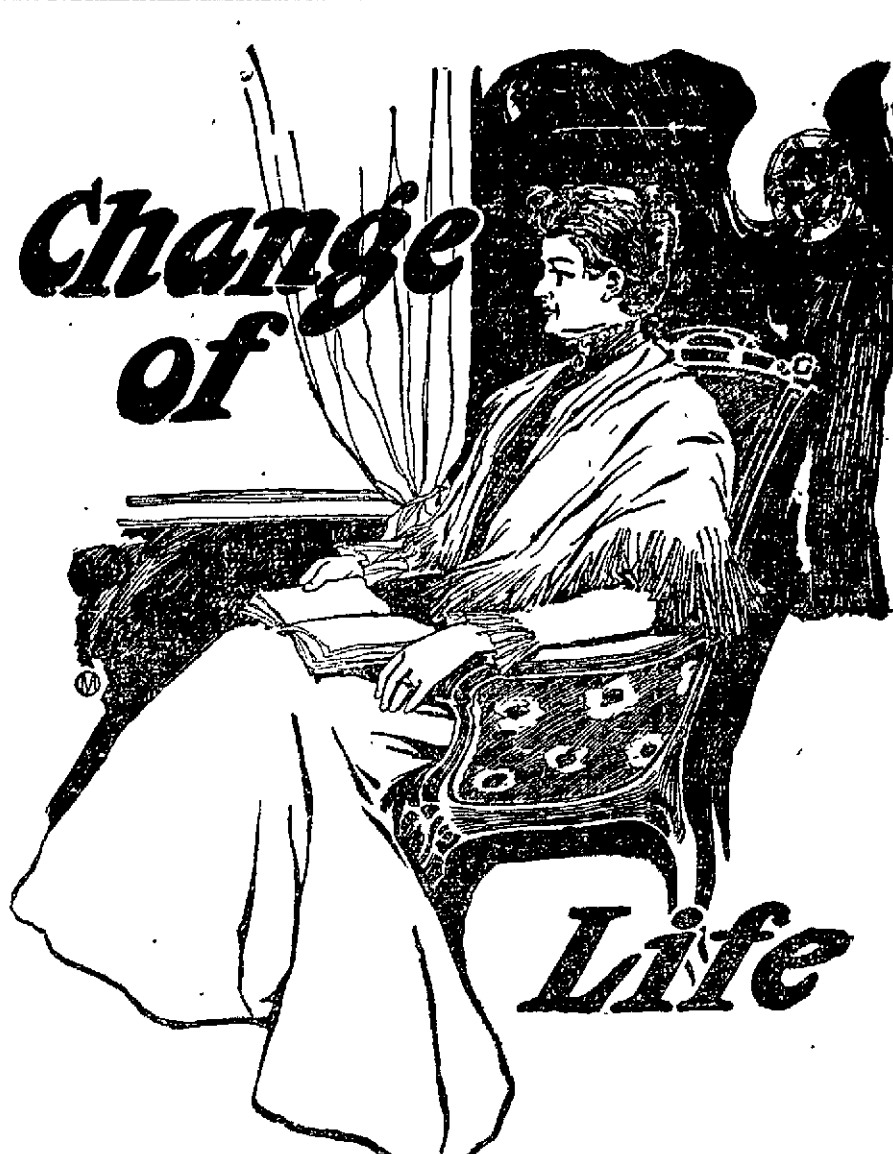

On the other hand, there are thousands of hats with more foliage than flowers, as nature produces them—violets, lilacs, myosotis, syringia, with white blossoms and masses of the beautiful green leaves; dogwood, flag lilies, orchids, hydrangeas, roses, hibiscus, lilies of the valley and roses of every known kind. And this by no means exhausts the list.

In the makeup hats—for there are many that are for sale ready to trim—there was one exquisite thing for a young woman. The flat itself was of pale blue chiffon laid in flat folds and under a crown. When there is no crown, there is a bandeau beneath the hat which serves to hold it on the head. Over the chiffon was laid a piece of heavy white lace, and above that, like a wreath, lay pink crush roses, with just a couple of leaves. Beneath the left side of the brim there were some more roses and across the back, partly falling on the hair, a whole big bunch of buds scarcely showing the pink, so small they were intended to appear.

A flat hat of white chiffon had a wreath of delicately tinted hydrangea all around the brim and a flat looped bow of ribbon to match hanging at the back. Another striking concoction was of all white chiffon and lousine ribbon, with a big rose spray, with lots of foliage, one jack rose and one bud. The ribbon was brought all around the brim exactly on the edge in a series of puffs and bows, with a large bow at the back where the ribbon falls to the shoulders. A very dainty pale blue chiffon is laid in rather loose folds on brim and crown. Lying flat on the brim and beneath it are bunches of syringia. It is very pleasing. The same scheme was carried out in black. Black and white are quite as well liked for small hats as last season. A flat hat of black moulure has a drape of white tulle around the brim, and needed in this is a wealth of lilies of the valley, with many leaves.

Turbans, flats and all the many shapes adapted to the showy picture hats are seen, but the turbans are mostly black or in dark colors and with little trimming. The hats are made of closely shirred or folded chiffon or even tulle and ornamented with perhaps a few better of fine jet.

Among the new of the hats is the sailor shape, flat in all of the light and delicate shades of the season's colors is seen, and the passion for motorizing things has reached that too. Tuscan in the burned colors and woven in with a tan or velvet is a favorite. OLIVE HARPER.

A Danger Period Through Which Every Woman Must Pass.

Owing to modern methods of living, not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms. At this period a woman indicates a tendency towards obesity or tumorous growths. Those dreadful hot flashes, sending the blood surging to the heart until it seems ready to burst, and the faint feeling that follows, sometimes with chills, as if the heart were going to stop forever, are only a few of the symptoms of a dangerous nervous trouble. The nerves are crying out for assistance. The cry should be heeded in time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life, and all women who use it pass through this trying period with comfort and safety.

TWO COLUMNS OF PROOF.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I was sick and nothing seemed to do me any good until I began taking Mrs. Pinkham's medicine."
Mrs. LIZZIE BOWMAN.
519 Smith St., Millville, N.J.

"It was Change of Life with me and falling of the womb. I had severe pains all through my body. I had a terrible cough and people thought I had consumption."
"I took six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and two of Blood Purifier, and two boxes Liver Pills, and I am now stronger than I have been for a long time. I can do all my work now, thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

"If any one wishes to write me, to verify these statements, I will gladly answer their letters."
Mrs. CLARA CHEWEM, Jewett, Ill.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For seven years I had been suffering, was passing through the Change of Life, and my womb had fallen; masses were so pressed that at times I was obliged to lie on my back for six weeks at a time, could not raise my head from pillow. I had been treated by several physicians, but got no relief."

"I was advised by friends to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and after taking it six weeks I was able to be around all the time and do my household work. I cannot faithfully produce the original letters and signatures of these women, which will prove their absolute genuineness."

HOME ECONOMY.

"My dear we must begin to practice Home Economy, and to start it I'll just take hold and lay this carpet; no just paying money out for such a trifling job; and since I've cleaned it I might as well lay it, and I'll just begin right in this corner. It is no great trick to clean a carpet, or lay it, either."

"Oh, but you have to come up, you know; uh, ah, ah, a-h-a-a."

"Well, I declare, my hands are all dirt. Wonder where it all came from. And just look at that rip, and that, and that. Why, it's all rips. I must have pounded it pretty hard. Wonder what's the matter anyway!"

"Oouch, Oo, my thumb! Oh, Oo, I've stuck tacks in my hands and knees and pounded my thumb and all on account of this half-cleaned and worse laid carpet. I'll send it to FRANK MYLIUS' CARPET CLEANING WORKS next time or I'll know why!"

"My dear, don't you think we will save time and money and get a more satisfactory job by sending for FRANK MYLIUS, the Carpet Cleaner, Fitter and Layer? He does the finest work that can be produced and for the least money. All work is guaranteed first class or no pay."

ECLIPSE

OF THE MOON TAKES PLACE THIS EVENING

Will Enter the Shadow Thirty-Eight Minutes Before Rising—It Will be Nearly Total

The most interesting astronomical event to occur in April is the eclipse of the moon this evening. It is not a total eclipse, but so nearly total that when the moon is most deeply immersed in the earth's shadow only a narrow margin of light in the northern edge will be visible. The eclipse begins before the moon rises, so that if the sky is clear down to the eastern horizon the first view of the moon will be quite unique. The moon having passed through the penumbra will have entered the shadow at 5:34 p. m., 38 minutes before rising. At that time 6.12 p. m. it is about three-quarters eclipsed and will appear as a broad segment of yellow light with the remainder of the disk very dimly seen or possibly not at all. At 7:13 p. m. one hour later, mid-eclipse occurs; the thin segment will be on the upper edge of the disk and the whole moon should then be seen and will be of a bronze color. As the eclipse progresses the segment of light will broaden until the whole moon is visible at 8:25 p. m. when the moon leaves the shadow. A shadowy belt will move across the disk between this time and 10 p. m. when the moon will leave the penumbra and shine with its ordinary brightness at 10:11 p. m. The eclipsing of the paschal moon on the eve of Easter is suggestive of the religious events celebrated at this season.

First Snake Story.

Here is a snake-story that will do to start the anti-reptile campaign on. A few days ago Mr. Moses Van Winkle, who is the sexton of the Bell church, four miles east of Utica, had quite an experience in the line of assasinating serpents. While doing some repairing in the church grave yard, he actually killed 12 black snakes ranging from 4 to 6 feet in length. As some skeptical people require a verification of all newspaper snake stories the proof of the truth of this one can be substantiated by such reliable witnesses as Jesse Hursley and Clem Coffman.

Later Mr. Murphy learned that the wheel belonged to Arthur Priest and it was turned over to him.

Paine's Celery Compound

Paine's Celery Compound, so vastly superior as a spring medicine to all other known remedies in pill and liquid form, and so remarkable in its power over disease, has no equal in the world as a spring nerve food, blood cleanser and system fortifier. At this season, when the majority of people feel the necessity of a tonic for the weakened system and a regulator for the nerves and digestive apparatus,

MRS. MANUEL BARRANCO.

Paine's Celery Compound is the one preparation indorsed by the ablest physicians for spring renovating and recuperating. In severe cases of persistent headaches, nervous prostration, neuralgia, rheumatism, dyspepsia, kidney and liver troubles, and female irregularities, Paine's Celery Compound has a record of wondrous and lasting cures in every city of this great land. The honest use of the Compound for the next two or three weeks will guarantee improved appetite, sound digestion, sweet sleep, nerve power and a condition of health that will make you happy during the coming summer. Mrs. Manuel Barranco, Havana, Cuba, says—

"For some time I suffered terrible agonies, and I was in a critical condition. Insomnia, nervousness, deranged digestion and general weakness brought me near the grave. After medical skill failed, I was advised to use Paine's Celery Compound. I am happy to report that after using your precious Compound for two weeks my insomnia was banished, and I rapidly began to regain health and strength. I now am in full enjoyment of new life, vigor, and happiness. Paine's Celery Compound is worthy of all praise."

A Sermon-Lecture.

At Plymouth Congregational church Sunday evening Rev. Mr. Kiernan will deliver a sermon-lecture on "Immortality in the Light of Modern Thought, Scientific and Theological." The following is a synopsis:

Immortality—is a belief in it native to man? Is it universal? Arguments of reason for future existence and against. Immortality as seen through Christ's resurrection: Christ's teachings; foretokens; witness of great men; probation after death; relation to eternal life: conditional immortality; continuity of life.

SOCIETY EVENTS OF THE WEEK.

On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hempstead entertained in a very informal, but most delightful manner, in honor of Mrs. Hatch, of Millford, N. H., and Mr. and Mrs. Sasell of Pittsburgh. There were about twenty-five guests present, and the chief entertainment was pedro.

Mr. William Trace was the recipient of a delightful surprise at his home in Myers' Alley, on Tuesday evening, on the occasion of the thirty-fourth anniversary of his birth. About thirty of his friends called at his home, took full possession of the house, and proceeded to celebrate the evening in a fitting manner. The self invited guests brought with them well filled baskets of good things to eat, and a delicious supper was partaken of. Mr. Trace was also the recipient of a number of useful and beautiful presents. The evening was spent in a social manner and all had a good time. At a late hour all took their departure wishing Mr. Trace many returns of his birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Solinger entertained the West End Shadows on Wednesday evening at their home on Riley street. The evening was spent in playing progressive pedro, the first prizes being won by Walter Swartz and Mrs. Robert Rosel. The booby prizes were won by Mr. Robert Rosel and Mrs. Walter Spitzer. Refreshments were served and at a late hour all departed after thanking Mr. and Mrs. Solinger for their splendid entertainment. The guests of the club were Misses Sadie Spitzer and Grace Solinger.

Last Monday evening a neat little surprise was inaugurated and successfully carried out by a large number of friends of Mr. Milton Monroe, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fred Boner, who lives in Franklin's addition. Mr. Monroe was quite suddenly reminded of the 70th anniversary of his birth as he opened the door in response to a gentle knock that evening at about 8 o'clock. The invaders were armed with switches, for they had purposed in their hearts to give the venerable old gentleman a "busting." But Mr. Monroe's great presence of mind, however, saved him from an ordeal that had been carefully planned beforehand, and this part of the program was not carried out. As Mr. Monroe could not very well defend himself against so many he offered as a compromise that his guests take full possession of the house for the evening; and that the best his home could afford was not too good for them, and all had a social and very pleasant time. A bountiful supper was prepared and spread before the guests by Mrs. Boner. After supper was served, and while the guests were "testing on their plates," it was resolved that each should tell an original story or sing a song. 'Squire Nott bagged the first prize and Mr. Monroe was awarded second on a solo.

Miss Simonds will give a cotillion for her children's class on Saturday afternoon, April 18th, at Brennan's hall.

The following invitations are out: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Ickes request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Edith to Mr. William Burke Brady, on the evening of Wednesday, the twenty-second of April, one thousand nine hundred and ninety three, at eight o'clock, Trinity church, Newark, Ohio.

Just previous to his departure on his foreign trip one year ago, Mr. L. P. Schaus was entertained with a delightful farewell supper by a number of friends, and ever since his return he has been waiting an opportunity to return the compliment. Mr. Schaus recently returned from his wedding trip in the east, and he concluded that this was the proper time to reciprocate. Accordingly on last Tuesday evening he gave a supper to his friends, who gave him the farewell supper one year ago. The spread was a most sumptuous one, eaten up in Koster's best style. The affair was greatly enjoyed by the following named guests: Messrs. W. M. Cunningham, A. F. Clayton, H. C. Bostwick, J. L. North, William H. Sedgwick, Hon. Wm. E. Miller, John Chilcote, Wm. C. Taffel and Harry Swisher.

The monthly Missionary meeting of the Fourth Street Church of Christ, held at the home of Miss Emma Vetch on Friday afternoon last, was the first meeting of the new financial year. A program on the topic, "Our New Stations in India" was successfully carried out. Original papers were read after the topic, "The Missionary Bulletin," a dry-monthly paper of original and selected thoughts by members, being chief. "The Christian Women's Board of Missions" with headquarters at Indianapolis, Ind., to which this society is an aid, opened three new mission stations in India within the past two years. They maintain foreign stations to the number of nineteen, and support in all one hundred and ninety missionaries.

The colonial moving picture company which gave a matinee this afternoon to a delighted audience, will repeat the exhibition tonight in Taylor Hall. The secret of the success of this company is that the exhibition has been developed to the highest point of excellence and faithfully fulfills its promises.

The budding maiden, the youthful Casprado of the home, the cherished mother and father will alike enjoy the Colonial Moving Picture company and an Oriental Evening. Its attractiveness will appeal to them all. Prices tonight 25 and 35c; Taylor Hall; benefit A. O. U. W.

The attraction tonight at the Auditorium is the powerful Russian melodrama, For Her Sake, which has already had one very successful season, and now comes to us in an entirely new dress, having been rewritten and novel and effective situations added. The present prominence of the Czar's government in the Chinese business tends to arouse interest in plays dealing with Russian military life, and this of itself will assure large audiences during the coming engagement. The stage setting of the piece is magnificent, the story absorbing and pathetic, and the comedy plentiful and varied. Auditorium tonight.

HOLY WEEK IN JERUSALEM

By EVANGELINE BEN-OLIEL

Copyright, 1933, by American Press Association

ALL the world over Easter is a season of great rejoicing, as everything begins to cast off the dinginess of winter and Nature herself exhibits the spirit of resurrection. Palestine, the spot where the resurrection we commemorate took place, is supremely emblematic of the season because there the spring suddenly bursts forth and all the verdure and flowers spring up as though a magic wand had been waved over the land, for the excessive dreariness of winter is broken in the orient when it is still winter in western lands.

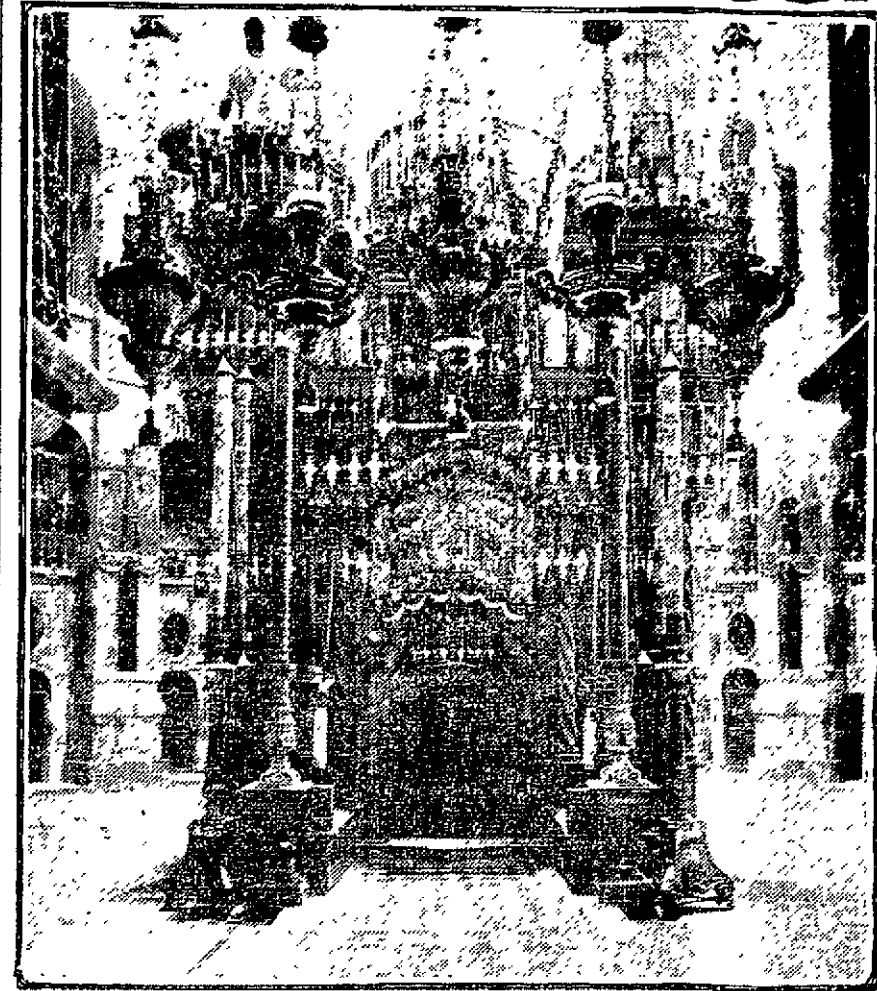

The beauty of the Holy Land at this season and the peculiar ceremonies enacted in the oriental churches combine to draw to the Holy City pilgrims and tourists from every corner of the earth to witness these interesting celebrations. No other city in the world presents so cosmopolitan an appearance as Jerusalem does at this time. Russians, Latins, Copts, Armenians, Syrians, all gather in large numbers in the Holy City for this week. The Russians, to whom Easter is the greatest festivity of the year, are represented in largest numbers. They walk wearily over long distances attired in the quaint Russian garb, carrying their provisions in knapsacks on their backs. They suffer many discomforts on this long pilgrimage in the hope of thus winning eternal salvation for themselves or for the wealthy penitents in whose proxy they come. They belong to the Oriental Greek church. As they proceed through the country their melodious singing fills the air.

Second to the Russians are the French pilgrims, who come in large bodies. They enter the Holy City on foot, walking in procession, carrying banners and crucifixes and singing French and Latin hymns. Their first act on arriving in Jerusalem is to march to the Church of the Holy Sepulcher and hold a service there.

backed by the power of Russia and numbers hundreds of Russians among its adherents. Its native members are Arabs and speak Arabic. Its clergy are from the Greek islands and speak modern Greek. Their chapel in the Church of the Holy Sepulcher is the most richly ornamented of all. It is filled with gold and silver ornaments of great splendor and with gilded pictures. Many lamps are kept alight continually and shed a most dazzling brilliancy throughout the chapel, making the images and the gilded altar cloth, the censer and the golden candlesticks sparkle and glisten till the whole inclosure seems to be ablaze with burning gold. During their services incense is profusely waved before the altar, and the bishops and priests within the chancel, attired in glittering garments, lead the service in modern Greek in a peculiar intonation. The worshippers stand on the marble nave, for no seats are provided. No instruments are ever used in their services, but the worshippers sing in chorus in a most harmonious manner.

The principal services of holy week are held by the Greek and the Latin. The first one of interest is that of the "washing of the feet," celebrated on Maundy Thursday. The Greek patriarch and other dignitaries of the Russian church, attired in their most gorgeous robes, make a grand display of imitating the Lord's example of humility. This service is held in a large, open court before the church, which becomes crowded to its utmost capacity by Russian pilgrims and visitors from all climes. With great pomp and ostentation the Greek patriarch washes the feet of twelve priests especially chosen for that purpose.

The next ceremony of interest is performed by the Latins. On Good Friday night they hold a service in the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, when they enact the details of the crucifixion. As the service begins at a late hour, the pilgrims bring their mattresses and sleep within the church until they are awakened by the entrance of a procession of priests, chanting as they come from the adjoining convent. The bishop and the prior, with his gold miter and black velvet cloak, trimmed with gold, and other priests, all gorgeously attired, form this impressive procession. A large wooden cross, with a life size figure affixed to it, is carried aloft, surrounded by many banner bearers. All the lights of the church are extinguished, and in total according to their calendar, all feast days are eight days later than by the Gregorian calendar. As we entered the Holy Sepulcher on Easter day the first thing that attracted our attention was the fact that it had been turned, as the temple was of old, into a "house of merchandise." Vendors of palm leaves and even of fruit were all around.

The grand mass of the Latins, who, with us, celebrate the resurrection on this Sunday, was being sung before the sepulcher. As soon as it was over the Greeks who were waiting around began to form a procession. A large banner was placed at the entrance to the sepulcher. The Russian pilgrims all prostrated themselves before it and touched it with their palm branches. Then they joined the procession, marching round the church. Here, again, were Turkish soldiers going before to clear the way. The priests, wearing their richest attire, their miters and caps glittering with precious stones, followed, chanting. Some of the priests carried sacred banners, and others sprinkled holy water on all present. As the largest banner appeared there was a great struggle among the pilgrims to touch it with their palm leaves. These they would then take back to Russia and treasure for life.

AN EASTER CONCEIT

IF I could catch that rabbit
With the egg producing habit,
I would nab it,
Quickly grab it,
And I'd put it in a pen,
And there I'd let him lay, sir,
Colored eggs the long day, sir,
And I see, sir,
It would pay, sir,
For I'd keep an egg store then.

By CALLIE BONNEY MARBLE

UNCLE JACK, four feet eight, a brunette and "stunning," so impressive: young ladies said, was preparing to attend the Easter services at the cathedral, an undertaking which seemed rather difficult to his fastidious tastes. For the dresser was littered with collars and neckties, while half a dozen fancy waistcoats reposed on the table, and three or four suits covered the bed.

"Why, Uncle Jack! What is you a-doing? I is all ready to go to church wif you." And Doll, his five-year-old niece, arrayed in all her infantile finery, stood in the doorway.

She was a beautiful child. But, no; he could not for one moment consider taking her to church with him. He might wish to see somebody home, and he could not hug a child along as though he were a lone widower.

"Oh, no, Doll," he said; "you cannot go with me. Your mamma will take you, or your papa or nurse or somebody," he added in haste to furnish indisputable argument.

The child's blue eyes filled, and her lips quivered.

"Mamma is ill and I cannot take me."

THE GREEK PATRIARCH WASHING THE FEET OF TWELVE PRIESTS.

and papa had to go to the office, and nurse is busy, and"—polite child—"I do love you so, Uncle Jack! I just must go wif you!"

"But you can't, Doll. Stay at home, like a good girl, and I will give you a nickel."

"Don't want nickel; want to go to church wif my dear Uncle Jack!" and, seeing no signs of relenting in her uncle's face, Doll, who had early learned the power of feminine tears, howled dismally, her voice rising with each wail. Jack, who knew that his sister-in-law must not be worried, was forced to surrender, but, manlike, he did not do it gracefully.

"I am astonished at such behavior from you, Doll," he said sternly. "How do you suppose I can take such a naughty girl out with me?"

In the incomprehensible way children have, tears and wails stopped instantly, and, feeling her point gained, Doll's face was wreathed in smiles, as, little descendant of Eve, she clasped both chubby arms around her uncle's neck and murmured ecstatically:

"My own dear Uncle Jack! Doll loves you—she does."

Then, not giving her uncle a chance to repent or change his mind, and noting that he had no means of escape save the doorway in which she stood, Doll grew confidential.

"Minister told us that on Easter day we should give what was dearest to us, and I'm going to, Uncle Jack."

And slipping her wee hand into her uncle's, her cherub face wreathed in smiles, she trotted along beside him to attend the Easter services.

The joyous and beautiful strains of resurrection music were filling the crowded cathedral when Doll and her uncle arrived, and before the latter could signify to the usher that, with the child, he did not care to take his usual prominent seat in front, he was being taken up the aisle to his accustomed pew. Doll still clinging to his hand, Uncle Jack noticed an amused pair of gray eyes in the opposite pew.

For half an hour Doll was perfectly angelic. Then she began to fidget, and Jack cast such despairing glances toward the owner of the gray eyes that she grew merciful and beckoned to Doll to come over to her. The child, nothing loath to change her position, scrambled down from the seat, remarking as she did so, in a distinctly audible whisper:

"Goodby, Uncle Jack. I am going to sit with the beautiful lady awhile if you think you can spare me."

SOME CURIOUS EASTER CUSTOMS..

By HUBERT NORTHERN

IT was particularly agreeable to the Roman Christians to have the ancient egg-gorging feast of the Arvales Frates—pagan gods of the continued fertility of summer—transferred to Easter and absorbed by it, for the reason that they were not allowed to eat eggs during Lent, the very season when the fowls began to lay. And so, in all lands to which they sent Christianity, Easter is particularly an egg festival, and many are the strange customs connected with its celebration in this regard.

In some parts of France the cure blesses the eggs on Easter eve, going from house to house to do so and getting some of the eggs for his own Easter breakfast at each one. In the days of the monarchy the biggest eggs in France used to be sent to the Louvre for the king. There they were blessed at the mass on Easter Saturday, at which the king and his court were present, and after the mass his majesty distributed them among the members of his court.

The Russian Easter festival lasts four days, during which people carry eggs and exchange them with one another when they meet, with this salutation and answer:

"Christ is risen."

"It is so of a truth."

Then the speakers kiss, whether they be men, women or man and woman.

The offering of an egg in exchange and the saying of the salutation give the right to the peasant to kiss a princess in that glorious season. Many are the Russian romances based on the daring of youths who did that very thing, even before the eyes of the princely parent, who could only wreathe his chagrin in smiles because of custom and the holy season. But often the romance ends by the irate father cutting off the rash youth's head when the enchanted time is over.

The German children get presents of varicolored eggs at Easter, which FACADE OF THE CHURCH OF THE HOLY SEPULCHER, JERUSALEM.

The Church of the Holy Sepulcher, or the Cathedral of Palestine, stands on the remains of the beautiful basilica built by order of St. Helena in 335 A. D. over the supposed site of the tomb of Jesus Christ. In this spot the great queen is said to have discovered the cross of our Lord as well as those of the two thieves. Within this building the various sects of Christians—Latins, Greeks, Armenians, Copts and Syrians—each possess a chapel or an altar where they hold their special services. The chapels over spots of sacred interest belong to them all in common. These are the chapels of the Parting of Vestments, the Crown of Thorns and the Stone of Unction. The sites of the greatest traditional interest are Calvary and the Chapel of the Tomb. The Chapel of Calvary, the scene of sacred tragedy, exhibits three holes in the ground where the crosses are said to have stood. The Chapel of the Tomb, which stands under the great dome in the center of the church, is built of marble. It is twenty feet high and twenty-six feet long and eighteen broad. It is surmounted by a high dome in the shape of a crown. Before the entrance are some colossal wax candles. Within the chapel are two divisions. The first, called that of the "Angel," contains the traditional stone of the sepulcher. The inner portion is the Chapel of the Tomb. A marble sarcophagus covers the rock of the tomb. Above it hang forty-three gold and silver lamps, gift from European sovereigns.

The most important sects of the Oriental church are the Latin and the Greeks. The latter are the wealthiest and the most numerous. Their church is the strongest in Jerusalem. It is darkness the worshippers listen to a sermon which a monk delivers in Italian. At its close the candles are relighted, and the procession moves slowly toward Calvary.

At various intervals during this service monks deliver sermons in different languages. As soon as the image is lifted off the cross and placed on the stone of unction, where it is wrapped in linen, the pilgrims prostrate themselves before it in oriental devotion. They rub their heads on the pavement and adoringly kiss the figure and even the marble slab on which it lies, while whispering paternosters and shedding tears of gratitude and of penitence. After the conclusion of an Arabic sermon the body is borne away to the sepulcher, where it lies till the ceremony of resurrection is performed on Easter morn.

The most interesting of all the ceremonies of the week is that of the "holy fire" celebrated by the Greek church. There is a curious foundation to this strange festival. In olden days, we are told, it was customary among the Latins to extinguish all lights in the church on the evening of the crucifixion, and on the eve of the resurrection a bishop, leading a solemn procession, replaced new fire in all the lamps. An old tradition says that on one occasion the bishop found the lamps already miraculously lighted before the procession entered the church. Ever since then this peculiar ceremony has been held yearly, when the holy fire is supposed to descend from heaven. The festival was first instituted by the Latin church, but in time it ceased to celebrate it.

Our Easter Sunday is kept as Palm Sunday by the Greek church, as ac-
